

Note

Worksheet Delivered

Mabuhay! Thank you for choosing Albine of Aralin World website as part of your Tagalog journey.

Please find below your supplemental materials prescribed by the lesson entitled:

Learn Object-Focused Verbs And Choose The Right Doer Pronoun

This lesson is part of the Tagalog Verb Tenses series that is still a work in progress but ongoing updates will be delivered to a Member like you!

By downloading this material, you agree with our Terms Of Use.

Let us make your 🇵🇭 Tagalog learning fun but 🍏 fruitful, so say YES to our activities now!

. . .

OBJECT-FOCUSED VERBS

DAILY PRACTICE

Date: _____

Part 1: Conjugate

Root word: _____

Infinitive: _____

Past tense: _____

Present tense: _____

Future tense: _____

Root word: _____

Infinitive: _____

Past tense: _____

Present tense: _____

Future tense: _____

Try the following root words:

tingín (look), bukás (open), suót (wear),
sunód (follow), hati (split), sabi (tell), kuha
(get), gupít (cut)

Root word: _____

Infinitive: _____

Past tense: _____

Present tense: _____

Future tense: _____

Part 2: Select Your Doer Pronoun

ko, mo, niyá, natin, namin, ninyó, or nilá

Part 3: Bring the subjects:

Part 4: Write the indirect objects:

Part 5: Use them in a Sentence

Suggestion: Print multiple copies of this Worksheet and commit to "Object-Focused Verbs Daily Practice".

Test Your Tagalog Grammar

Instruction: Given the sentences below, identify the verb, the doer pronoun, the subject, and the indirect object in each of the statement:

1. Bibigyan ko ikaw ng bulaklak.

Verb: _____

Doer Pronoun: _____

Subject: _____

Indirect Object: _____

2. Hahanapin niya ang aso.

Verb: _____

Doer Pronoun: _____

Subject: _____

Indirect Object: _____

3. Lalagyan natin ng kanin ang pinggan.

Verb: _____

Doer Pronoun: _____

Subject: _____

Indirect Object: _____

. . .

Test Your Sentence Construction

Given the verb, the doer pronoun hint, the subject, and the indirect object, write the sentence in Tagalog. If applicable, include the right markers to both subject and indirect object.

1. Verb: inaalala (being worried)

Doer Pronoun: 3rd person singular

Subject: kinabukasan (future life)

Indirect Object: ko

Your Sentence: _____

2. Verb: tuturuan (to be taught)

Doer Pronoun: 2nd person singular

Subject: akó

Indirect Object: sayaw (dance)

Your Sentence: _____

Answers Key

Quiz 1: Test your Tagalog grammar:

1. Verb: Bibigyan; Doer: ko; Subject: ikaw; Indirect Object: bulaklak
2. Verb: Hahanapin; Doer: niya; Subject: aso; Indirect Object: none
3. Verb: Lalagyan; Doer: natin; Subject: pinggan; Indirect Object: kanin

Quiz 2: Test your sentence construction:

1. Inaalala niya ang kinabukasan ko.
2. Tuturuan mo ako ng sayaw.
3. Dinalhan ko si Arthur ng pagkain.
4. Isinasama nila ang pusang ni Gabriel.
5. Binuksan ko ang bintana.

Hello! I'm Albine.

I can help you speak Tagalog. I have been teaching since 2019, and through Aralin World website, I am curating my lessons for students in Tagalog language.

- Do you have difficulty constructing Tagalog sentences?
- Are you struggling to understand the context behind Filipino expressions?
- Do you have difficulty communicating with your loved ones in the Philippines?
- As a tourist, do you want to navigate the Philippines on your own? or
- Are you confused why Filipinos do what they do?

If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, let us work together to find the solutions to a Better You!

After five years of teaching Tagalog, I've launched our Membership Program. That way, you will have access to valuable supplementary tools, most especially when paired with our Continuing Tagalog Program.

My goal for you is to be able to speak Tagalog confidently! 🎯

When signed up for any of my Programs, whether web-based or Premium Classes, you are receiving:

1. Exclusive learning materials,
2. Direct teacher support,
3. Ongoing updates, and
4. Free access to Saturday Group Coaching calls.

. . .

As a sole worker of Aralin World, my mission is to build a community of Tagalog speaking people who share with the following core values:

1. Commitment To Mastery: I commit to serve the community. I continue to lead and teach individuals and groups while I upgrade my existing tools and methodologies. Such commitment lies on teacher-student synergy towards each other's betterment.
2. Consistency To Face Challenges: I strive to be remarkably consistent in everything that I do. I don't seem to follow the crowd but I'm noticeable to many.
3. Connection With A Purpose: While technology is essential to my products and services, I prioritize human touch. Teaching a language means I want people to be able to connect with each other through speech communication and I help them realize that a Philippine language can be functional all over the world.

. . .

So... Find your Accountability Partner through Aralin World!

I ask you to continue practicing Tagalog, speak the language daily, or put your Tagalog into writing.

You may also record your own voice: audio only or with video. Pick your choice.

Seek feedback from me, or connect with your fellow learners here at Aralin World.

As a community, our vision includes the following:

1. Tagalog is a functional language to the global community and can be used in both casual and formal conversations.

2. Children of Filipinos abroad are more connected to their roots because they have access to Tagalog language resources prepared by a native speaker.
3. Tourists speaking Tagalog consider the Philippines as the second home and they can confidently navigate the country.
4. Individuals who are equipped with deeper knowledge of the Philippine language and culture share a feeling of empathy, establish a habit of daily reflection, and see the path to self-improvement.

What do you think?

 Is studying Tagalog a means to an end? Reply to my emails and let's talk!